With a background in art and design, Sasha drives the creative direction of SACRED. He is an artist with a rare talent for tapping into emerging national trends to keep Sacred inventive, immersive and successful. Upon graduating from the University of Wisconsin-Madison with a degree in landscape architecture, Sasha practiced with an award winning firm in Los Angeles, managing a world-class list of clients and projects. Today, Sasha brings those skill and combines them with his passion for art and technology to provide Sacred with an innovative and creative design and business direction.
